The Autochthonous Thraco-Dacian Stock and the Latin-Romance Component (Bucharest, 1981) - I. I. Russy nade highly important contributions in the contemporary Romanian historiograph to the settlement of various problems of Dacian and Daco-Roman toponymy, etymology and onomatology, connected with the military, political and cultural history of the Dacians, and of the Roman Province of Dacia, with the establishing of the autochtho nous Thraco-Dacian stock of the Romanian language, All these were intended to demon strate as proved by his recent work The Romanians' Ethnogenesis - the process of genesis and development of the Romanian people in the space bordered by the Danube river, the Carpathian mountains and the Black Sea.

A scholar of encyclopaedic knowledge, I. J. Russu naturally continues the study of the phenomena of ancient history with the study of the phenomena of more recent times with his work The Romanians and the Szecklers contributing a new theme to the content porary historiography. The scholar, both a historian and a philologist — qualities well knit together in his personality examines the ethnical relations seen through the prism of the political, economic, cultural, religious and linguistic ties — established bet ween the Magyar Szeckler population, in the south-eastern part of Transylvania (the so-called Szecklers' zone, and the Romanian population, through the prism of most different types of proofs (archaeological, epigraphic, juridical, ethnographical, archive bibliological, press and linguistic proofs), establishing their type, specific and basic trails.

The Szecklers, an ethnical group of Magyar expression, gradually settled down in the eastern part of Transylvania, beginning with the 12 th - 13 th c., occupying in seven the control of the con ral stages in the name of the military interests of the Hungarian Crown - a territory with numerous indigenous Romanian settlements.

Between the colonists, well organized from the military point of view and sharing the colonists. the rulers' religion and juridical-economic privileges, and the native Romanians, multiple economic, social, political and military relations were established and developed for centuries. The essential aspect of these old, close relations consists in the Magyarization and disappearance of a considerable part of the Romanian population into the Szecklers.
