

TOPOONYMS OF DOLJ COUNTY

Loredana POPESCU (MA student)
University of Craiova

Abstract

The analysis of Dolj county toponyms concerns the structure, the behaviour of entopics, as well as homonymy. The grammatical aspects (articles, plural forms) and the origin of certain toponyms are important for the study of the Romanian language and for marking foreign influences in the south of the country. The comments on the social characteristics of ethnonyms highlight the documentary value of Dolj county toponyms.

Key words: structure, toponym, compound, derivative, entopic

Résumé

Par l'analyse de la structure des toponymes de Dolj on a mis en évidence la composition, la dérivation avec des suffixes, l'homonymie, les entopiques, la graphie. Les observations relatives aux caractéristiques sociales des ethnonyms sont importantes pour la valeur documentaire des toponymes de Dolj. Dans le cadre des composés, le plus grand nombre d'occurrences est détenu par les toponymes formés des substantifs et d'adjectifs. Les aspects grammaticaux (l'articulation, les formes de pluriel) et l'origine de certains toponymes sont importants pour étudier la langue roumaine et pour marquer les influences étrangères au Sud du pays.

Mots-clés: structure, toponyme, composé, dérivé, entopique

The research of toponyms from various angles is important for the history and evolution of the Romanian language, for acquiring better knowledge of its vocabulary and etymology. It equally involves the relationship between literary language and popular language, dialects. Iorgu Iordan mentions the fact that “the place names of a certain region can be structured from different standpoints, according to the preoccupations of the one researching them. The way they come into being, as well as the role they play in the life of a people are of great interest to geographers, historians, ethnologists and linguists”¹. Several linguists have been concerned with toponymy-related issues: Iorgu Iordan, Al. Graur, Ioan Pătruț, Ion Toma, Ilie Dan².

Toponyms are differentiated according to several criteria:

1. according to their structure – simple toponyms: *Basarabi, Bâlta, Bârca, Bechet, Bechet (Orodel), Beharca, Boga, Brândușa, Breasta, Bujor, Busu, Calafat, Calopăr, Carpen, Catane, Cârna, Celaru, Cetate, Chiașu, Ciatura, Cornu, Cotu, Criva, Desa, Dioști, Frasin, Gabru, Gaia, Ghighera, Giubega, Gogoșu, Goicea, Golenți, Hunia, Izvoare, Izvor, Jiul, Lazu, Lângă, Leșile, Leu, Livezi, Mârza, Moșna, Motoci, Murta, Nedeia, Nisipuri, Ocolna, Ohaba, Palilula, Poienile, Prapor, Preajba, Puțuri, Rast, Salcia, Sărata, Schitu, Secu, Segarcea, Sopot, Teasc, Teiu, Unirea, Vela, Zănoaga, Zaval*³.

¹ Iordan, 1963, p. 104,

² See Bibliography.

³ See Bolocan, Șodolescu-Silvestru, Burci, Toma, 2009, I, p. 55, 57, 129, 152, 166, 178, 191, 287, 301, 310, 336; II, p. 11, 12, 31, 75, 87, 102, 134, 350, 355.

Some are homonyms of common names: Brândușa, Bujor, Cetate, Ciutura, Cornu, Cotu, Frasin, Izvor, Leu, Prapor, Unirea.

Morphologically, they have a plural form: Basarabi, Catane, Dioști, Golenți, Izvoare, Leșile, Livezi, Motoci, Nisipuri, Puțuri.

The article is marked in the following examples: Bâlta, Bârca, Beharca, Bogaia, Breasta, Cârnea, Criva, Desa, Gaia, Ghighera, Giubega, Goicea, Hunia, Lângă, Mârza, Moșna, Murta, Nedeia, Ocolna, Ohaba, Palilula, Poienile, Preajba, Salcia, Sărata, Segarcea, Vela, Zănoaga.

The article is not marked in: Busu, Celaru, Chiașu, Gabru, Gogoșu, Lazu, Schitu, Secu, Teiu.

2. Toponyms derived with the suffix -aș: Tâlpaș; -an: Cârstovani; -ean: Boureni, Câmpeni, Coșereni, Coșoveni, Ghindeni, Italieni, Jieni, Moșneni, Ostroveni, Roșieni, Spineni, Ungureni, Vâleni; -et: Făget, Prunet; -ar: Podari; -ați: Afumați; -oai: Argetoaia, Drăgoaia, Pietroaia, Ursoaia; -oi: Bărboi; -eanu: Bobeanu; -at: Căciulatu; -ui: Cetățua; -ești: Albești, Brădești, Căciulești, Călinești, Cernătești, Drăgotești, Florești, Gârlești, Mogoșești, Negoești, Pielești, Pomești, Popești, Românești, Tatomirești, Urechești, Velești; -easa: Popeasa; -an: Gropanele; -ire: Înfrățirea; -ura: Întorsura.

Toponyms derived with diminutive suffixes: -aș(i): Cioroiași, Murgași; -el: Almăjel, Ștefănel, Giorocel; -ele: Ciocânele, Fântânele; -ei: Călugărei, Cârligei, Moțăiei, Puținei; -ice: Comâncea; -icior: Bucovicior; -ița: Cornița, Giurgița, Gogoșița, Urdița; -et: Pisculeț, Busulețu; -ișoara: Vișoara; -șor: Plopșor, Luncșor; -uța: Sălcuța. Some derived toponyms describe the form or outward aspect of the place: Cârligei (< cârligi), Ostroveni, Pisculeț. Some others evoke the nature of the land belonging to that locality or its vicinity: Brădești, Călinești, Cornița, Făget, Plopșor, Prunet, Sălcuța. Adâncata (it comes from Adânc), Albești (derived from Alba) show a characteristic of the place.

The following toponyms show a property relation: Căciulatu, Căciulătești, Moșneni; the inhabitants' occupations: moreni (moară 'mill' > moreni), Podari (the persons who levy the tax for crossing a bridge); the toponyms Călugarei (cf. călugăr 'monk'), Popeasa, Popești (cf. popă 'priest' > Popa) make reference to the representatives of the Church.

Comâncea (cf. Cumani), Italieni, Ungureni are ethnonyms; psychological toponyms: Afumați, Puținei. Morphologically, Călinești, Negoești, Românești are social toponyms with the plural form in -ești or -eni; different suffixes are added to the same base to form: Căciulatu, Căciulătești, Drăgoaia, Drăgotești, Popeasa, Popești.

3. Compound toponyms, with different structures:

a) noun (N) + noun (apposition): Botoșești Paia, Castrele Traiane, Domnu Tudor, Horezu Poienari, Moțăiei Gara, Plopșor Amaraști, Râsnicu Oghian, Vișoara Moșneni.

b) noun + adjective: Apele Vii, Balta Verde, Bistrețu Nou, Brădeștii Bâtrâni, Catanele Noi, Cioroia Nou, Ciupercenii Noi, Ciupercenii Vechi, Galicea Mare, Georocu Mare, Lăcrița Mare, Lăcrița Mică, Malu Mare, Piscu Lung, Piscu Nou, Piscu Vechi, Poiana Mare, Predeștii Mici, Râșnicul Bâtrân, Tunarii Noi, Tunarii Vechi, Ungurenii Mici, Urzica Mare, Valea Mare.

Within these constructions, one can notice the category to which adjectives belong. Thus, there are adjectives indicating property (mic 'small', mare 'large', nou 'new', vechi 'old', bâtrân 'old', lung 'long'): Lăcrița Mică, Lăcrița Mare, Ciupercenii

Noi, Ciupercenii Vechi, Piscu Lung. These adjectives have different occurrences: mare has 7 occurrences, nou has 6, mic has 3 occurrences. The adjective verde ‘green’, accompanying the toponym Balta is a chromatic epithet.

c) noun + noun (G): Gura Racului, Gura Vaii, Piscu Sadovei, Poiana Fântânii, Siliștea Crucii, Valea Fântânilor, Valea Lungului, Valea Stanciului (old, popular genitive with the article in a post-position), Valea lui Pătru (a genitive in its literary form).

d) noun + the preposition de + noun in the accusative: Preajba de Pădure, Seaca de Câmp, Seaca de Pădure, Smadovicioara de Secu, Teascu de Deal.

e) noun + noun (G) + the preposition de + adverb (with concatenated determinations): Valea Muierii de Jos.

f) nouns + the preposition de + adverb: Amărăștii de Jos, Amărăștii de Sus, Balota de Jos, Balota de Sus, Bodăieștii de Sus, Leamna de Jos, Leamna de Sus, Lipovu de Jos, Marotinu de Jos, Marotinu de Sus, Măceșu de Jos, Măceșu de Sus, Preajba de Jos, Răcarii de Jos, Răcarii de Sus, Răchita de Jos, Răchita de Sus, Robănești de Jos, Robănești de Sus, Șimnicu de Jos, Șimnicu de Sus, Vârvoru de Jos.

The distinction is made by an adverb preceded by the preposition de in pair toponyms: Amărăștii, Balota, Leamna, Marotinu, Măceșu, Răcarii, Răchita, Robănești, Șimnicul.

Toponymy is therefore important for the study of the history and language of a people. The toponyms under analysis illustrate the features of the dialect of Dolj county, in the region of Oltenia.

Onomasiological classification: of a total of 210 toponyms, the noun Valea is predominant with six occurrences (Valea Fântânilor, Valea Lungului, Valea Mare, Valea Muierii de Jos, Valea Stanciului, Valea lui Pătru), Piscu with four occurrences (Piscu Lung, Piscu Nou, Piscu Sadovei, Piscu Vechi), Răchita with two occurrences (Răchita de Jos, Răchita de Sus).

The distinction between homonymous toponyms, names of villages, by adding common names, is rare: Cetățuia (Cioroiași), Cetățuia (Vela).

Given the vicinity influences, the following toponyms are of Slavic origin: Breasta (< brěstъ, ‘elm’ ulm), Călinești (< Kalin a person’s name), Cernătești, Lazu. The toponyms Gabru (< Gaber ‘hornbeam’), Hunia (< Hunija ‘funnel’), Bucovicior, Ciocănele are of Bulgarian origin; there are fewer toponyms of Hungarian origin: Almăjel (< alma ‘apple’).

BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Bolocan, Gheorghe, Silvestru-Şodolescu, Elena, Burci, Iustina, Toma, Ion, Dicționarul entopic al limbii române, I, II, Craiova, Editura Universitară, 2009.
- Iordan, Iorgu, Toponomia românească, București, Editura Academiei Române, 1963.
- Graur, Al., Nume de locuri, București, Editura Științifică, 1972.
- Pătruț, Ioan, Nume de persoane și nume de locuri românești, București, Editura Academiei Române, 1940.
- Toma, Ion, Toponimia Olteniei, Craiova, Reprografia Universității din Craiova, 1988.
- Dan, Ilie, Nume proprii românești, Iași, Editura Timpul, 2006.